Kinsley Power Systems is happy to announce that the Kohler Company recently gave them the "2006 Residential Distributor of the Year" award.

Kohler Company cited Kinsley's sales order growth, market share, outstanding service, dealer promotion/expansion/coverage, promotion of the Kohler product line, development of major accounts and overall professionalism.

"This is one of the highest honors that Kohler bestows and I'm extremely proud of our entire team for winning the award," said David Kinsley, President of Kinsley Power Systems. "We do have some of the best support personnel in the nation. They deserve it."

Kinsley vied with 35 other Kohler distributors across North America for the Distributor of the Year honor.

Kinsley Power Systems was founded in 1964 and is headquartered in East Granby, Connecticut with branches in Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo, New York. Kinsley Power offers energy solutions for residential, industrial and commercial customers throughout the Northeast.

“This award also would not have been possible without our strong dealer organization,” David Kinsley said. Kinsley Power Systems has over 60 installers and dealers across New York State and western New England to provide local sales and service support.

“Kinsley’s residential generator team has been extremely responsive in growing its dealer base and its training program, and has been especially successful in building new residential and builder customers,” said John Schultz, Director of Kohler Power Systems’ residential generator business.
